Calvin Chamberlin, was born at Brattleboro in February 1773, made the journey on horseback, carrying all his earthly possessions on pack horses. He built a log cabin, and for six years employed himself in lumbering and rafting. In June, 1799, he bought one hundred and thirty acres of land in Rapalyee's Patent, which is still in possession of the family, and on which he built the second frame house in the town. On February 7, 1806, he married Polly M. Clune, whose one child, Mary, married and moved to Connecticut. Calvin Chamberlin's second wife was Bersheba Judd, daughter of the Rev.
