BIOGRAPHICAL

The following is taken from Snell's History of Sussex and Warren Counties, New Jersey:

William Chamberlin received only a common-school education, but in early life learned to depend upon himself. Upon reaching his majority he went into the busy world to carve out a fortune for himself. He had no lack of resolution, but with willing hands and a robust constitution, he met the obstacles to success and overcame the difficulties attendant upon every young man starting life for himself without pecuniary assistance.

His wife Sarah, was the youngest daughter of David and Anna (Oliver) Warman and was born on the Warman homestead in Franklin township. Her grandfather Thomas Warman, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and died near New Village, at the home of his son. Her father died March 18, 1858, aged 73 years. Her mother died in October 1856, aged 75 years. David Warman's children were seven sons and four daughters, all of whom are living (1881), but one.

For three years following his marriage, Mr. Chamberlin lived on rented farms. In 1850, he purchased the property first settled by his grandfather, where he resided until 1858, when he sold it and settled at Old Oxford, where he has since resided.

Mr. Chamberlin has been a successful agriculturist, and his life has been one of activity and wholly devoted to business. In all his dealings and business relations, he has been esteemed for his integrity and devotion to principle. He has always avoided such business as would lead to litigations or differences, and never sued a man or had a process of law served upon him.

Mr. Chamberlin is a supporter of local objects of a sectarian nature, and a member of the Summerfield Church. Following the political line of his father, Mr. Chamberlin is a supporter of Republican principles, and was originally a Whig.

The family of Warman is of English descent, and Mrs. Chamberlin's great-grandfather was of English birth, and had one son who was killed in the war of the Revolution. Her father was drafted to serve in the War of 1812, but supplied a substitute. The Chamberlin family is of Dutch origin. [Not so!].

This family was enumerated in the 1850 census at Oxford township, Warren Co., NJ, #217/227, 2 Aug 1850, P. 401:

Chamberlain	William	28	M	W	Farmer	$ 150	New Jersey
Chamberlain	Sarah	22	F	W			New Jersey
Chamberlain	Mary Elizabeth	2	F	W			New Jersey
