BIOGRAPHICAL

His son Jacob H. Chamberlin's biographical sketch in The Leading Citizens of Delaware County, New York, gives the following:

Jacob H. Chamberlin, is a prospering farmer and popular resident of Tompkins, formerly known as Pinefield, Delaware County, New York, where he was born on November 17, 1849. His father, Eliphalet Chamberlin, who was a native of Vermont, married Mary A. Boice, daughter of Joshua Boice. He died in the prime of life; and his widow married Peter Hogan, a farmer of Tompkins.

He was brought up by his mother and step-father, and educated in the district schools of Tompkins. When 15 years of age he began life for himself, working out on various farms, and later, in 1878, purchased from William Dennis [his father-in-law], the farm on which he now resides.

The quiet well-kept home of Mr. & Mrs. Chamberlin, who have no children, is plainly the abode of intelligence, industry, and thrift. Mr. Chamberlin is engaged in farming and in sheep and stock raising, in which business he exhibits good judgement and practical ability, and has been eminently successful. He is a Republican in politics, giving that party his most hearty support.

This family was enumerated in the 1850 census as follows: Tompkins, Delaware Co., NY, #421/—, 2 Aug 1850, P. 331:
